In British India menial servants in all departments are exempted wholly from the operation of art 1056 C.S.R. There is no such general exception in favour of menial servants in M.S.R and sanctions are being accorded in individual cases under art 580. It seems better to recognise the case of such servants as an exception to the ordinary rule as in British India and to the list of officers and Establishments to whom the restrictions imposed by art 580 does not apply, mentioned in the said article, the addition of " menial servants in all departments" may be made. The Estabt of the Assistant Private Secy to the Maharaja Consists of only menial servants and his request for the exemption

With reference to a communication from the Assistant Private Secretary to His Highness requesting that his establishment, like that of the Private Secretary, may be exempted from the operations of the ten days' rule in regard to claims for halting allowances, the Assistant Secretary, Financial Branch, has suggested that as in British India menial servants of all Departments may be exempted from the operation of the rule. The Financial Secretary agrees to this being done.

This may be sanctioned.
